USE OF COOKIES AND ACTIVITY FILES

Colectalia.com or a contracted third party to analyze statistics, can use cookies when the user browses the site. The cookies are files sent to the browser via a web server to register the activity of the user during its browsing time.

The cookies used by this website are only associated to an anonymous user and his computer, and they do not provide any personal data of the user.

Using cookies it is possible that the server where the website is hosted in, can recognize the web browser used by the user to allow a more simple navigation, allowing, for example, the log in to previously registered users, or their access to areas, services, promotions or contests exclusively intended for them, without having to register in each visit. Cookies are used too to analyze the traffic, audience and to control the progress and number of entries.

The user can make changes to his browser to be noticed of the reception of cookies and to avoid their installation in his computer. Please, review your browser instructions to get more info about these facts.

To use this website it is not strictly necessary that the user allows the installation of cookies sent by this web or a third party on this web's behalf, but certain services require a login.

The cookies used in this website have only a temporary character, and are intended only to facilitate its posterior transmission. They will never be used, in any circumstances, to collect personal data.

Please, check here our specific cookies policy.

IP ADDRESSES

Our web servers will be able to automatically detect the IP address and domain name used by the user. An IP address is a number automatically assigned to a computer when it connects to the Internet. All this info is registered in an activity file in the web server, and allows a posterior data processing to know the number of page printings, the number of visits to the web servers, the order of the visits, the access points, etc.

SECURITY

This website uses information security means generally accepted in the industry, like firewalls, control access procedures and cryptographic programs, to avoid unauthorized access to the data. The user/customer accepts that this website collects data to allow authentication in the access control system.

Any process of contractation / order requiring the introduction of personal data will always be transmitted via https protocol (<https://www.colectalia.com>), in a manner that none third party can have access to the electronically transmitted information.

INTERNATIONAL DATA TRANSFER

Colectalia.com is hosted in a server in the United States of America, and all the personal data supplied during the sign up for a customer account are transferred to that country. When a user signs up for an account in Colectalia.com, must give us his explicit consent to internationally transfer his data to the USA, in order to store his data, as per the assumptions of the Spanish laws, article 34 of LOPD and 66.2 of RLOPD. For this reason, any user signing up in Colectalia.com, must check the box at the bottom of the registration form, accepting our Privacy Policy, and thus explicitly allowing us to do this international transfer of data. If that box is not checked, the sign up will not be possible.

We remember to our customers that the only personal data we ask to sign up are name, surname, email, street and number, ZIP code, city and country. Optionally, they can also provide data about title (Mr. Ms or Mrs), date of birth, telephone and cellphone and company. We do not require neither keep any kind of financial information, as we only accept payments through PayPal, Skrill, bank wire or cash on delivery.

The same conditions apply for the subscriptions for our newsletter, with the only difference that only an email address is required to get a subscription.

Any customer can revert at any time his consent given to us to store his personal data in our US servers, but deleting a customer's data from our server will also imply to delete his user account and to unsubscribe from our newsletter.
